Introduction

The U.S. Mint's principal mission is to manufacture an adequate volume of coin for the nation's commerce. In addition, the Mint has for many years provided a variety of numismatic programs. Numismatics, the study and collection of coins, medals and all media of exchange, is an ancient science known and practiced throughout the world. The Mint, as many other national mints, has almost from its inception offered historic medals and special coinage at the request of the American public. The numismatic programs of the Bureau of the Mint are self-supporting from the revenues derived from the sale of its products. All of our sales proceeds, after reimbursement of our cost, are available for deposit to the general fund of the Treasury for the benefit of all taxpayers.

This booklet has been designed to provide information about the items available from the Mint and to assist you in ordering these products. Should you have additional questions, you may wish to write to:

The Bureau of the Mint
55 Mint Street
San Francisco, CA 94175

Should you encounter difficulty or need further assistance, write: Consumer Affairs Staff, Bureau of the Mint, 501 13th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20220 or call: 202/376-0461.

Mint Mailing List

If you wish to have your name added to the Mint's mailing list, please use only the enclosed "Form for Adding Name to Mailing List." The Bureau of the Mint has only one customer mailing list which is maintained at the San Francisco Old Mint. As our mailing list is a computerized one, some time is involved from the time a request is received by the Mint until the name and address is placed on the list. Letter orders, however, are accepted and one is not required to use computer order cards to order items from the Mint. Those on the mailing list will receive order cards for future offerings. If you are not interested in ordering certain coin sets, please disregard the notice of the availability, as it is not possible to delete a name on particular offerings. If you do not place an order within two years, your name will automatically be dropped from the mailing list.

Privacy Act Statement

Furnishing information about your address is voluntary. The legal authority for its collection is 31 U.S.C. 369 and 324h. The information will be used to identify where and to whom periodic notices of numismatic offerings are to be sent and for the processing and shipping of orders. Failure to provide the information will result in your not receiving the periodic notices of numismatic offerings.

Remittances

When ordering, all remittances should be made payable to "The Bureau of the Mint." The Mint accepts a personal check or cashier's check drawn on a United States bank and payable in U.S. currency. A money order from the United States or an International money order is also acceptable. Please note that the Mint assumes no liability for loss of payments when no payee is specified on the remittance. Please do not send cash.

Annual Proof Coin Sets

A Proof Coin Set contains a cupronickel half dollar, quarter dollar, dime and the five and one cent pieces. Proof coins bear the "S" mint mark and are produced only at the San Francisco Assay Office. The cost of the 1983 set was $11.00 each. All aspects of production, from dies to blanks to the striking and handling of the proof coins, are specially designed to provide the ultimate in quality. The production of proof coins is a unique operation with special handling being given to both the dies and the blanks. Proof blanks are burnished with thousands of steel beads and cleaning chemicals to buff out imperfections and polish the surface. The polished blanks are then rinsed, dried and transferred to the press room where a final cleaning and inspection is given them by the coin operator before they are struck. Proof dies are first sand-blasted resulting in a frosted appearance and texture to the die's surface. The portrait is then covered with tape and the background is polished with several grades of diamond polish and buffed. When the tape is removed the frosted design against the polished background gives a beautiful two-toned effect to the die which is transferred to the coins when they are individually struck twice. Proof coins are sealed in a clear plastic package to protect their beauty.

Annual proof coin sets are offered only during certain ordering periods. For each program the dates of the acceptance of orders and the cost of the items are announced prior to the ordering period. Information about ordering these products is made available to the public through the Mint's mailing list and the news media.

During the first quarter of each year, orders are accepted for Proof Coin Sets at the San Francisco Old Mint. The price of these sets includes the shipment by first class registered mail. Usually the Mint begins to mail the sets in May or June and all orders are mailed by the end of December as specified in the ordering material.

The Bureau of the Mint anticipates that orders can be accepted for approximately two months. An earlier cut-off date is required if orders for the sets exceed the Mint's production capability. If this occurs, it will be necessary to return all orders received after the cut-off date. If a remittance is deposited and we cannot honor an order, a refund will be made.

Order Limitation

Acceptance of all orders is contingent upon the Mint production capacity to meet an unpredictable demand. Orders received after a cut-off date has been established are returned. Orders are not accepted in advance of the official ordering period.

Prior Year Coin Sets

With the exception of the Bicentennial Coin Sets and special souvenir sets, only coin sets manufactured and issued during the current year are available from the U.S. Mint. For those issued during previous years, you may wish to consult coin dealers in your area.

George Washington Commemorative Half Dollar

This commemorative half dollar marks the 250th anniversary of the birth of George Washington, eulogized in 1799 by Henry Lee as "first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen."

The coin, honoring our nation's first President, also represents some "firsts" for our own era. It is the first time since 1954 that there has been a U.S. commemorative half dollar and the first time since 1964 that a 90% silver coin has been produced by the U.S. Mint.

The commemorative concept itself, however, dates almost to the origin of coinage. Important personages, events, or localities have appeared on special coins minted by areas as diverse as ancient Greece and the modern Orient. The tradition also exists with U.S. coinage. The first U.S. commemorative coin, the World's Columbian Exposition piece, was struck in 1892. This issuance of commemorative coins continued in the United States through the first half of the twentieth century until 1954 when the last of the pieces honoring George Washington Carver and Booker T. Washington were minted in Philadelphia, Denver and San Francisco.

The George Washington half dollars offer Americans new beginnings and old traditions. It is a piece of remembering and of anticipation.

Uncirculated George Washington Coin

The George Washington Uncirculated Commemorative half dollar is produced by the United States Mint in Denver, Colorado. The coin is sealed in polyester film and inserted in an information folder. This folder, which includes a short message from Mint Director Donna Pope detailing the coin's physical characteristics and composition, is placed in a blue presentation case. The outline of George Washington's portrait, along with a reproduction of his signature, is imprinted on the top of the presentation case.

Proof George Washington Coin

The George Washington Proof Commemorative half dollar is produced by the United States Assay Office in San Francisco, California. The coin is encapsulated and placed in a burgundy-colored velour coin holder which allows the coin to be displayed if desired. The holder is inserted in a burgundy presentation case. An outline of George Washington's portrait, along with a reproduction of his signature, is imprinted on the top of the presentation case.

An insert giving the coins physical characteristics and a short message from Mint Director Donna Pope detailing the coin's composition is included with each coin.

Olympic Commemorative Coins

Public Law 97-220 signed by President Reagan on July 22, 1982, authorizes the Mint to strike three coins with designs emblematic of the summer Olympic games which are to be held in Los Angeles, California July 28 to August 12, 1984:

- A silver dollar coin bearing the 1983 date composed of 90 percent silver. Production of the proof coin began in early February at the San Francisco Assay Office. Each silver coin will contain .77 troy ounce of silver (24.06g) and have a diameter of 1.50 inches (38.10mm).
- A second 90 percent silver dollar coin of a different design and bearing the 1984 date. It will be available early next year. Each silver coin will contain .77 troy ounce of silver (24.06g) and have a diameter of 1.50 inches (38.10mm).
- A $10 gold coin bearing the 1984 date and composed of 90% fine gold (21.6 karat). This represents the first gold coin to be produced by the United States Mint in over 50 years and will be available in early 1984. Each gold coin will contain .484 troy ounce of fine gold (15.046g) and have a diameter of 1.06 inches (27.00mm).

The three options, their prices, and postage and handling charges effective June 6 are:

- Three Coin Set

1983 Silver One Dollar Proof Coin
1984 Silver One Dollar Proof Coin
1984 Gold Ten Dollar Proof Coin
$416.00 plus postage
& handling*

- Two Coin Set

1983 Silver One Dollar Proof Coin
1984 Silver One Dollar Proof Coin
$64.00 plus postage
& handling*

- Single Coin Set

1983 Silver One Dollar Proof Coin
$32.00 plus postage
& handling*

* A charge of $2.00 is being made to help defray postage and handling costs. Add this amount to the total cost of the coins. Verify prices by calling the toll free number.

In the event that further significant increases in bullion prices should occur, the Mint reserves the right to discontinue the acceptance of orders. Once an order is accepted by the Mint, however, it will not be canceled due to changes in bullion prices. Interested buyers are invited to send a letter order and payment to:

The United States Mint
P.O. Box 6766
San Francisco, CA 94101

Those interested in bulk rate discounts should write to:

Olympic Commemorative Coins (con't.)

Public Law 97-220 provides that a surcharge of no less than $10 for each silver coin and $50 for each gold coin be used to promote the Olympic movement. These surcharges are incorporated into the costs of the coin sets. Specifically, the law stipulates that 50 percent of the surcharges be promptly paid to the United States Olympic Committee to be used to train United States Olympic athletes, to support local or community amateur athletic programs and to erect facilities for the training of such athletes. The remaining 50 percent of the surcharges shall be paid to the Los Angeles Olympic Organizing Committee to be used to stage and promote the 1984 games in Los Angeles.

More than 840,000 Olympic coins have been sold with gross sales in excess of $62 million. Of this amount, $14.5 million in surcharges have been collected for the two Olympic committees.

Gold Medallions

In compliance with Public Law 95-630, the Bureau of the Mint is minting one ounce and half ounce gold medallions honoring American artists.

Alternative sales methods for the gold medallions are being implemented this year. The United States Mint has awarded a contract to J. Aron & Company to market the American Arts Gold Medallions. A new, convenient program is being developed to make the buying and selling of medallions fast and easy. This program will be well publicized through advertising. You may wish to call 800 USA GOLD.

The American artists being honored on the medallions are as follows:

Year	Artist Honored on one ounce medallion	Artist Honored on half ounce medallion
1980	Grant Wood	Marian Anderson
1981	Mark Twain	Willa Cather
1982	Louis Armstrong	Frank Lloyd Wright
1983	Robert Frost	Alexander Calder
1984	Helen Hayes	John Steinbeck

To encourage public participation in the national coinage tribute to the Bicentennial, the Treasury Department sponsored a national competition for the new designs. As a result of this competition a colonial drummer, Independence Hall, and the Liberty Bell and moon were selected to appear on the reverses of 1776–1976 dated Washington quarters, Kennedy half dollars and Eisenhower dollars, respectively.

Medals

National medals are authorized by Congress and struck by the United States Mint to commemorate noteworthy segments of our history and to honor outstanding service to America. Included among these series are medals depicting Presidents of the United States, Secretaries of the Treasury, Directors of the Mint, and other persons and events important in American military and civilian life. More than 300 historic medals are available in bronze from the Mint. Should you wish to order medals other than those illustrated, please request a complete listing from:

Additional Information:

The Coinage Act of 1965, Public Law 89-81 (July 23, 1965), provided for the elimination of silver from the dime and the quarter and that it be substantially reduced in the half dollar. (The half dollar was the only coin produced between 1965 and 1970 which contained silver.)

The Bank Holding Company Act of 1970, Public Law 91-607 (December 31, 1970), provided for the removal of silver from the dollar and the half dollar denominations and stipulated that they be of a cupro-nickel composition.

The Bicentennial Coinage Act, Public Law 93-127 (October 18, 1973), authorized the minting of dollars, half dollars, and quarter dollars with reverse designs emblematic of the Bicentennial of the American Revolution. The Treasury was also authorized to mint 45 million silver clad coins of the same design for inclusion in special three coin proof and uncirculated sets. The 1976 quarter dollar, half dollar, and dollar of 40% silver were only included in the Bicentennial Proof and Uncirculated Coin Sets.
